MINERS SEALED IN BOTTOM OF A PIT

FEARS FOR THEIR SAFETY ENTOMBED SINCE LAST FRIDAY

Hole Bored To Admit Tablet Form Food—Super Human Efforts Are Being Made To Rescue 43 Men Under Ground—Attempt To Communicate With the Mine Workers Unsuccessful—First Aid Forces Mobilized.

Two days nearer delivery—or death? That has become the question frantic relatives and tired rescue crews were asking Sunday night. The pile of debris separating the 43 miners of the Oliver iron mine at Ironwood, Michigan, from their loved ones is proving to be so formidable as to dim the bright hopes held out for the men's rescue when they were entombed Friday night.

Progress into the wall of rock catapulted into the bottom of the 2,600 foot shaft by vibration of the mine cage and the disintegrating effect of a week of rain is dishearteningly slow. The relief party is forced to "timber up" as they go along because of the ever-present menace of a fresh earth slide.

Another rescue crew, which entered an adjacent mine a half mile from the wrecked shaft, has started digging from a lower level, hoping to connect with the mine level on which the men are trapped.

It will be two days or more before the tomb is pierced, frantic directors of the rescue work estimated Sunday night.

The men are without food other than the remnants possibly remaining in a few lunch pails, company officials said. The mine executives, however, again pointed out that if the miners escaped the first fall of earth and the avalanches did not extend far into the forks of the workings, that the chances of the men escaping death by suffocation or drowning were good.

Renewed attempts to communicate with the men failed Sunday and the relief work was continued with redoubled effort.

A one-and-a-half inch hole is being drilled thru the debris, estimated to be 400 feet thick, in the shaft where three men lost their lives in the cage, plunged to the bottom by the collapse of the walls. This operation is being carried out in advance of the timberers, and on it hopes of rescue are centered.

If the miners are found to be alive food in tablet form will be sent down to sustain them until a passage way is dug.

Cots, blankets and first-aid supplies were brought to the mine Sunday and ambulances were held in readiness, while relatives and friends of the men kept their vigil about the opening awaiting news.

A SAWED OFF MOTORCYCLE.

If you see a miniature motorcycle on the streets, you had better get out of its way, as it is a racer. The car arrived in this city Sunday evening with its owner, Ray Arbright, of Indianapolis, Indiana, who puts on advertising stunts at auto shows. He will advertise the Hudson car at an auto show to be held in Chillicothe.

The car in question is 31 inches high, has a wheel base of 58 inches, a tread of 34 inches and the size of the tire is 17x4. The car has four speeds, three forward and one reverse.

The car weighs 500 pounds, has four cylinders and can travel at top speed seventy miles an hour. When asked why he had built such a low car he said, it was to get out of the way of Fords which infest the roads.

ATTENDING GRAND LODGE.

Man Goes to Jail to Retain $50 of His Vacation Fund

New York.—Paul Marcellini is spending the last ten days of his vacation in jail in New York city, but he is saving $50.

Convicted of speeding, Paul was given the choice of paying a $50 fine or going to jail for ten days.

Paul counted out the $50 and then deliberately put it back into his pocket.

"I've got ten days left of my vacation," he said. "I'll just save this $50."

Six thousand veterans of Aguinaldo's army thus pledged their loyalty to the United States.

HAPPENINGS IN OUR STATE

Taken Direct From Wires By Correspondents of the United States Press Association.

Steubenville — Fifty-three persons appeared in police court today to answer various vice charges as a result of one of the biggest clean-ups ever staged here.

The new city administration began a series of raids Sunday morning which continued most of the day. Gambling houses, said to have been in operation for year, were closed, alleged disorderly houses were raided, liquor violators, gamblers and others arrested in wholesale lots.

New Philadelphia — George W. Knisley, 69, deposed fire chief, will appeal his case to the civil service commission he has announced.

Knisley after acting as fire chief for 21 years was suspended on grounds of inefficiency because of the way he directed fighting a fire which destroyed a dairy barn here September 10.

Lorain — Four members of one family were killed when a New York Central flyer hit an automobile near Vermillion late Sunday.

The dead are Marcus Molner, 30, his parents and a five year old daughter, all of Sandusky. The family had moved from Lorain to Sandusky a few months ago and were enroute here for a visit at the time of the accident.

Cincinnati — Ten thousand Knights of Pythias, Pythian Sisters and their families arrived here today for the 57th annual convention of the grand lodge, Knights of Pythias of Ohio, and the 38th annual meeting of the grand temple, Pythian Sisters, to be held three days.

BRIEFLY TOLD

—The Sunday's Dispatch printed the picture of Miss Helen Jennings, of Ashville, who was married to Mr. Lewis N. Culp of this city, last Tuesday.

—Postal cards from Mr. and Mrs. Charles Gerhardt dated Jacksonville, Florida, have been received by friends in this city.

Different Species of Fish

The Jack salmon and muskellunge are two distinct species. In many instances they are similar in appearance. The muskellunge belongs to the pike family (scientific name, "Luciidae") and belong to the subgenus lucius masquinongy. The Jack salmon belongs to the perch family (scientific name, "perciidae") and to the vitreum stizostevion.

SCHOOLS CLOSE IN FAIRFIELD LACK OF FUNDS

Stoutsville, Clearcreek and Oakland are Forced to Suspend Operations.

The Clearcreek township schools Stoutsville district contains two schools, one at Stoutsville which includes grades one to 12 and is a first grade high school and a grade school at Oakland, grades 1 to 6.

These schools were closed Wednesday for want of funds. Under the present law the local school board is not permitted to borrow money until after January 1, and then only in anticipation of collection of school moneys for the ensuing fiscal year. The law also prohibits school officials from making contracts which entail the expenditure of public funds unless the fiscal officer certifies the funds are on hand to meet the obligation.

This makes it impossible for the Clearcreek board of education to assume contracts which would enable the continuance of school from now until January 1, and all the available funds have been exhausted.

The closing of the schools of the district has taken the school privilege from 296 boys and girls. It is said the responsibility of this rests with the voters of the district as the local board of education has placed before them the proposition of levying extra taxes each of the past four years. Each year this proposition has been voted down by the electors and, as a result, the schools have by necessity been closed. —Lancaster Eagle.

Magic Healing Virtues

Laid to Jaffa Orange

Jaffa, Palestine. — The delicious taste and unique fragrance of the Jaffa orange has caused it to become more and more popular in Europe, but the belief that it is possessed of almost magic virtues as a preventive against infectious diseases is held to be mainly responsible for its ever-growing vogue.

The home of citrus fruit is southern Asia, from the lower provinces of China to the slopes of the Himalaya mountains. Some 6,000 years ago travelers brought the "first golden apples" from India to Nippur in lower Mesopotamia, and toward the sixth century the Jews returning from the Babylonian captivity imported them to Palestine.

Whales Not Real Fish

Whales have to come to the surface of the ocean to breathe. They are not really fish, and cannot breathe as the ordinary fish does. Their ability to stay long under water is due to their vast lung capacity.

ELWOOD LEACH DEAD

FUNERAL ON TUESDAY

Elwood Leach died at the home of Mrs. R. J. Wing, on East High street, Sunday morning at 10:20 o'clock, following an illness of four months. He was born in Monroe township June 19 1861, and was a son of Edgar and Nancy Alkire Leach. He never married.

The funeral services will be held at the home of Mrs. Wing Tuesday afternoon at 3 o'clock. Rev. O. L. Ferguson will officiate. Interment in Forest cemetery. The pallbearers will be Joseph and James Baughman, Gerry Rader and Frank Wing.

POLICE COURT

John Alkire was placed under arrest Sunday for driving a motor vehicle while under the influence of liquor. He had a hearing before Mayor Fitzpatrick Monday morning was found guilty and was fined $100 and costs, and in addition will have to serve 30 days in the city jail.

JUDGE CHATT

Krupp Has Made Last Gun,

Says Heir to Big Business

Los Angeles, Calif. — Germany's famous Krupp works at Essen probably will never manufacture arms again, in the opinion of Baron G. Frederick E. von Krupp, only son of the present head of the plant. The young nobleman, who recently completed his second year at Harvard, said his father was educating him eventually to take charge of the works. When he assumes control, he added, "we won't make guns, for I don't believe in war." The plant now manufactures steel.

The Pea Tree

In Scotland the laburnum has the familiar name of pea tree. It is also sometimes called French broom, or Chanay ash. The laburnum is a remarkably domestic tree, rarely growing wild from seeds naturally sown, "perhaps," observes a recent writer, "because hares and rabbits are extraordinarily devoted to the bark and young trees."

DETOUR ROAD BANDIT GANG RUN TO EARTH

Three Columbus Young Men Admit Holdup Six Miles North of This City.

That three men, arrested Saturday, were responsible for the recent series of holdups and robberies which occurred in and around Columbus during the past month was the belief of Columbus police, Saturday night, after Elmer H. James, aged 18, 345 Grove street; Clarence Smith, aged 24, Chauncey, Athens county; and Albert Christ, aged 18, 400 North Sixth street confessed to three holdups of the past week.

The first two named were arrested Saturday afternoon at the Grove street address by Detectives Thillits and Gregg. When questioned by Chief of Detectives Shellenbarger, they implicated Christ, and confessed to having held up and robbed B. M. Michalosky, 148 West Sixth avenue, Standard Oil company filling station attendant, of $125, September 19, just before the latter entered his home late at night.

They also said they held up H. B. Ingalls, 111 South Richardson avenue, filling station attendant for the Capital City Oil company, on the night of September 21, and relieving him of $70. They declared that in neither case did they use a revolver, as the victims had reported, but "faked" a gun, by using a money wrench.

They obtained their biggest loot, Thursday night, according to their statement, when they held up and robbed M. M. Moorehead, Charleston, West Virginia, several miles from Columbus on South High street. From Moorehead, whom they followed in an automobile stolen from the Packard Motor Car Co., they took $70 in cash, his Lincoln car, golf clubs, a bag valued at $175, and clothing valued at $100.

Christ, who was arrested Saturday night, admitted having taken part in the three holdups. Altho the men deny any other activities, police believe that they have been implicated in other recent crimes in Columbus.—Columbus Dispatch.

The Lincoln car referred to was stolen from Mr. Moorehead last Thursday night. The holdup occurred six miles north of this city on the detour of the Columbus pike, near the bridge. The matter was reported to Sheriff Young from Columbus by Mr. Moorehead, two hours after the holdup was committed.

Popularity of Prince

Boosts Archery in Japan

Tokyo.—Popularity of Prince Sumi, fourth son of the emperor, is credited with having revived archery as a sport in Japan.

Since the ten-year-old boy was designated champion archer of his class in the peers' school his instructors say he has an excellent chance of becoming the most proficient archer in the empire.

More than 700 years ago archery was the principal military art. Relics of the old Japanese warriors are bows so long and strong that the present-day Japanese marvels at the brawn of his forefathers.

After the Japanese-Russian war judo and wrestling claimed attention and more lately baseball has helped make archery forgotten. About a year ago an effort to revive the sport of the bow and arrow uncovered the fact that there were still many amateur archers in Japan. Now it is taught in most of the schools.

Premier Wakatsuki practices daily with the bow and Marchioness Nabeshima is the leader of woman archers.

Wesley Made Rock Famous

There is a rock near Land's End which is called "Wesley's Rock," for it is said that it was there he wrote a famous hymn which contains the lines: "Lo, on a narrow neck of land twist two unbounded seas I stand." Anyone who has stood on this point of rock will feel the force of those lines.—London Tit-Bits.

FIVE PERSONS WERE DROWNED IN OHIO RIVER

Pomeroy, O., Sept. 27, (UP) —Five persons were drowned in the Ohio river near Mason, West Virginia early today when the strong current carried their frail skiff under a ferry boat tied at the dock.

Those who were drowned were: Mrs. A. E. Foulk, 50, mother of three children; Mrs. John Meier, 52, mother of five; Mrs. Robert Hannell, 38, mother of eight; Mrs. Will Sponagel, 42, mother of three; a seven months' old baby of Mrs. Sponagel's.

The victims had just returned from a weekend spent in Pittsburgh and had boarded the skiff at Mason to be taken across the river to Pomeroy.

BAPTISMAL RITES.

The sacred rite of baptism was administered in St. Philip's Episcopal church Sunday, September 26, at two o'clock by the Reverend David McDonald. Two children received the rite: David Richard Carter, son of John and Evelyn Carter, and Betty Lou Boggs, daughter of Fred Hunt Boggs and Haydee May Boggs.

Ancient Roman Work

Remnants of an embankment and pier built in London by the Romans as early as 100 B. C. have been unearthed along the Thames river. More than 90 feet of this early work have been uncovered to date, giving greater proof that the early London was of considerable proportions.

FOR THOSE WHO WISH TO TEACH

Questions Put to Applicants For County Certificates.

EXAMINATIONS HELD SEPT. 25

Prepared by the State Superintendent of Public Instruction to Test the Mental Qualifications of Those Who Seek Positions as Teachers in the Public Schools.

Following is the list of questions at prepared under direction of the state superintendent of public instruction and submitted at the county examinations for teachers for elementary school certificates:

PRINCIPLES OF TEACHING

(Answer any five.)

1. Why should education be free in a democracy? State briefly the aim of education. What do you hope to accomplish in your teaching? Is society justified in offering special education to the deficient and delinquent? To the especially capable? Why?

2. State the argument of those who believe that disagreeable and uninteresting work is most valuable in educating children. Should a pupil who receives only forty per cent in his arithmetic be compelled to repeat the grade? Justify your answer.

3. Name some of the devices which you have used in drill work, and justify their use. State four pedagogical principles that you have followed in your drill work. What are the objections in placing a high value on learning rules of spelling?

4. Describe a lesson designed especially to develop the aesthetic emotions. Why is it essential that the teacher enjoy a poem or picture which she attempts to teach to the children? What value is there in reading great literature to children without explanation or comment?

5. What is "good order" in the school room? Do you believe in "pupil self-government"? Justify your answer. Is it possible to arrange a daily program so that it will help in managing a class? Illustrate.

6. When a teacher says that she can get nothing from a teachers' meeting, what is wrong? Describe the preparation and uses of a school exhibit that would benefit both teacher and pupil. What is the purpose of supervision in school?

7. Define apperception, attention, interest, habit, "formal steps", and recitation.

8. What can a teacher do to help a near-sighted boy or girl? Why are school-room floors oiled and swept rather than scrubbed and swept? Why has the teacher a right to demand hygienic conditions in the school-room, and why has the community a right to demand good health as a prerequisite for teaching?

9. Explain how the school offers a good condition in which to train children in morality. What is meant by the direct method of moral instruction? Explain its strength and its weakness.

READING

The examination in reading will be conducted by the examiners.

Milk Requires Care

As an aid to longevity, many modern health authorities advocate the consumption of a quart of milk a day by both children and adults. Milk they point out, contains every structural element. But, like most good things, it has a headship. Milk is one of the most delicate of foods and with the best of refrigeration facilities it will remain sweet only a short time. Sterility also is a big question in milk production.

GERMANY WOULD BUY MALMEDY AND EUPEN

Dickers With Belgium for Return of Cantons.

Washington. — Belgium considers selling to Germany, according to cable reports, the two border cantons of Malmédy and Eupen.

"If cabled facts in the transaction are correct, this deal in international real estate equals any flights of fancy prices in America," says a bulletin of the National Geographic society from its headquarters in Washington.

"Belgium has been the owner of Eupen and Malmédy for six years. They are both hill towns. The first has 14,000, and the second 4,000 inhabitants, and the whole 382 square miles of territory contains not more than 60,000 people. The wooded countryside offers no such rich agricultural perspective as the fertile Belgian plain farther west. The hills contain no minerals of importance. Yet the tentative price is reported to be 1,000,000,000 gold marks. At current rates of exchange this is equal to approximately $40,000,000, which is a six-year profit any American realtor can appreciate.

Two Towns Near Liege.

"No one of the present generation can forget Liege, so it is easy to locate Eupen and Malmédy by fixing the former 25 miles east, and the latter 25 miles southeast, of that martyred Belgian town. Eupen can almost claim to be suburb of Aix-la-Chapelle, or Aachen, as the Germans call it. From Eupen the Germans stepped across the border on August 5, 1914. Malmédy is farther south along the German-Belgium frontier, which is only 40 miles long. Directly across the line from Malmédy is Spa. Not a spa, but The Spa, whose health springs attracted crowned heads of Europe during the first part of the Nineteenth century.

"At Versailles, in 1918, Belgium wanted 14 cantons in the so-called Eifel district of Germany adjoining the Belgian border. She claimed them as lost Walloon territory taken by Prussia by the treaty of Vienna in 1815. Belgium is half Walloon and half Flemish. The Walloon half is the forested uplands nearest France. Walloon speech resembles French and the religion is Catholic. Flemings, on the other hand, live in the fertile plain, are Protestants, and speak a Dutch language. At one time, Walloon families may have outnumbered all others in 'beyond the border' cantons, but the Germans changed that. Indeed, Eupen, a wool weaving center, is said to be German now but Malmédy, isolated in the hills, is still Walloon. Five Hundred People Without a Country.

"Neighbor to Malmédy and Eupen is Moresnet, which is a freak of border barter. In neutral Moresnet live 500 men, women and children without a country.

"The town sits over a zinc mine which has been worked for hundreds of years. When it came to laying a border line neither Belgium nor Germany would consent to the other owning Moresnet and its mine. They compromised to create neutral Moresnet. It is not a state, yet it belongs to no one. Moresnet is measured in acres instead of square miles, 1,400 acres, according to one authority, and 800 acres according to another. One year it has a German burgomaster, the next a Belgian burgomaster. Customs revenue is collected by German agents and divided between the two countries.

"Moresnet came near to being overcrowded shortly before the World war because its inhabitants, being citizens of no country, did not have to serve in the army. Belgians and Germans wishing to escape military service flocked to Moresnet until the two god-parent countries put a stop to that. A glimpse into Moresnet's economic life is afforded by its taxation policy. Funds to run this village without a country are obtained through subsidy from the mining company and a license on draught dogs!"

Earn $3,250 Hourly

Boston.—Earnings of $3,250 an hour were recorded by the crew of the fishing smack Kilaway. Four hours after she cast off from a local pier the ship was headed back with 33,000 pounds of mackerel, a new version of fisherman's luck.

Roman Roads Expensive

The old Roman method of road building is not employed today because the expense would be too great. The Appian way was built of solid masonry, sometimes several feet thick, and recent rough estimates have shown that it would cost about $250,000 per mile to reproduce such highways under present costs and conditions.

THE FIRST NATIONAL BANK
CIRCLEVILLE, OHIO

"The Bank That Makes You Feel At Home."

Uniform Marking System Is Urged

Plan Would Reduce Errors in Regard to Ownership to Minimum.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

Marketing of live stock in co-operative shipments is a very important feature in conducting the business of the shipping association, especially if the stock is to be sold according to ownership or if the commission firm is expected to prorate the returns to each owner. It would be advisable to establish a uniform system of marking live stock for use by all associations in the country, says the United States Department of Agriculture. Such a plan would reduce errors in regard to the ownership to a minimum. A system of marking which is suitable to the needs of all associations has been suggested, and is, briefly, as follows:

Mark Cattle and Calves.

Cattle and calves would be marked by using shears to clip four-inch Roman numerals on one hip, preferably the right hip. Only the first ten numerals would be used. A single bar, like a minus sign, placed before each numeral would raise the number by ten. Two parallel bars before each numeral would raise it by 20. Thus V, —V, ==V, would mean 5, 15, and 25, respectively.

Hogs are marked by clipping the numerals on the top of the shoulder, back, or rump, using only such combinations as can be made with four marks or less. Or they may be marked on the side of the shoulder, body, or ham, in which case not to exceed three marks would be used. Shears with curved blades about eight inches long, commonly called "roaching shears" are most generally used for marking.

Fluid for Sheep.

Sheep are marked by using branding fluid applied with a half-inch stiff round-bristle brush. The marks should be placed on the head, top of shoulders, back, or rump. In no case should paint be used for marking any kind of live stock. It is detrimental to the wool of sheep and unsatisfactory on hogs because it smears.

Cut Alfalfa Soon After

It Lodges, Says Expert

Just what is the best time to cut alfalfa for hay, all things considered, is a problem which farmers and agricultural experiment station workers have not definitely solved, according to A. C. Arny, field crops specialist of the Minnesota Agricultural Experiment station in a talk before a group of scientists at the Minnesota station.

About one thing, however, Mr. Arny was emphatic, and that was that alfalfa should be cut very soon after it lodges, as it does generally in Minnesota. The reason for this is that when the crop lodges the leaves underneath turn yellow and fall off and the hay produced is decidedly inferior. In 1924 alfalfa cut before lodging retained 50 per cent of its leaves, while alfalfa cut after lodging retained only 24 per cent.

Mr. Arny, therefore, advises the immediate cutting of alfalfa that has lodged, even if it is only in the bud stage.

Blindness in Hens

Hens may become blind due to bits of foreign material lodging around the eyeball and starting irritation, or it may be due to ocular roup. Most forms of colds and roup cause more or less trouble in the eyes of the bird. The blindness and weakness may be the symptoms of some disease. Sometimes a hen gradually becomes blind, due to causes which it seems almost impossible to determine. In such cases the only remedy is to kill the bird.

Plow early and deep for big wheat yields. If you plow late, don't plow so deep.

Cattle should be blanketed for a period of six weeks prior to showing them at the county fair.

It usually pays to spray potatoes even though there may not be any conspicuous blight on them.

Keep the hoops on the silo tight. A heavy shower when there is noilage in it may pile the whole thing in the silo pit.

A stitch in time saves nine—cut one cockle bur this year instead of nine next summer. The same rule works for sunflowers.

Keep weeds out of strawberry beds so the plants can grow well. Next year's crop depends much upon the care the plants receive this summer and fall.

Young chickens should have plenty of range and roosting space if they are to make good gains. Food will not compensate for scanty quarters, especially if they are to be breeding stock.

A root storage cellar is an essential part of the farm equipment. A bulletin put out by the New York state college of agriculture describes the construction and management of them. Ask for it by number—E 22.

MEDICAL BILLS RURAL AREAS IN THE STATE

Is Borne by Seventy-Five Per Cent of Families in Ohio.

Forty per cent of the people in four representative areas in Ohio paid the entire medical bill for their community according to surveys. The remaining 60 per cent had no medical, dental, or optical attention during the year.

Approximately three-fourths of the families, points out P. G. Beck, research assistant in rural sociology at the Ohio State university in charge of the health survey, had all the medical expenses. In the areas surveyed 23 per cent of the families had no attention, either medical, optical or dental.

Distance from medical facilities is one of the largest factors in determining the use made of them. The more remote sections seem to get along and avoid attention until it becomes imperative.

The use of medical facilities decreases, according to statistics compiled by Mr. Beck on the areas surveyed, as the size of the family increases.

In families of two in the areas surveyed, 53 per cent made use of medical facilities during the year; families of four and five, 50 per cent received attention. Only 22 per cent of the families of nine made use of professional service.

Children under ten in these areas received less care than at any time
the rest of their lives. Parents, Mr.
Beck says, seem to think they can get along even tho they are ailing.

TAKE UP CIVILIZED WAYS AND GROW RICH

Only 20 of 371 Indian Tribes
Hold to Tepee.

Washington.—April 19 marked the 110th anniversary of the first Indian enabling act. In other words, 110 years have elapsed since America's first official effort to co-operate with the Indian tribes was begun. During this period, says the New York Times, volumes of speeches about the Indian and his fate have been delivered in congress.

Not only congress but various civic associations have expressed their sorrow over the plight of the Indian, while America's treatment of the vanishing tribes has furnished the basis for many books.

The general condition of the Indian today is the reverse of that prophesied years ago. In 1789 Henry Knox, secretary of war, predicted that in 50 years the aboriginal nomadic Indians would be reduced "to a very small number." In 1864 the Indians were regarded as war-makers beyond redemption. About that time a secretary of the interior remarked that their total destruction "has been openly advocated by gentlemen of high position, intelligence and personal character."

Yet the present statistical survey of the Indian is far from depressing.
There are 340,967 people rated as Indians in the United States, though not a few of them are half-bloods. Some sit in congress, some are in business and the professions, some of them are in professional sport, others are in the army and navy. This total is an increase of 13,500 in the last ten years.

Adopting Civilization.

Of the various Indian tribes remaining there are 371 speaking 58 different languages. But of all these tribes there are only 20 where the majority live in tepees, wigwags or hogans.
Most of them prefer regular houses "with all modern conveniences." The few tribes that prefer the old traditions and will not follow the younger generations are living on reservations in six different states. Arizona has the largest settlement; California and New Mexico follow.

The number of Indians, men and women, who prefer the more comfortable quarters of modern civilization is increasing. The government's most recent count shows that 44,220 families live in permanent houses that are to all intents and purposes as good or even better than those of the average white American. About 50, 000 of the Indians, male and female,
are voters who exercise their franchise.

Equal suffrage among them has been well and long established.

It is obviously right that the government should see that the Indian is protected in his land holdings. Values have risen till the Indian is land wealthy. Indian farmers number 40,962, and they are cultivating with modern agricultural equipment more than $90,700 acres. The value of the steers owned by Indians has been estimated at more than $35,000,000.

In 1922 there was 28,940,234 barrels of oil produced on lands of the Osage nation Indians. Of the value of this, $11,700 per capita was distributed to them from royalties and bonuses. This tribe alone has received more than $11,863,530 from their oil. The Osage nation is but one of the five civilized tribes of Oklahoma, the total at the last enumeration being 103,200.

Money in Bank.

There are 1,392,379 acres of irrigable Indian land, and of land actually irrigated 363,000 acres. The federal government has expended large amounts of money to bring water to these Indian lands, totaling thus far $25,592,436. On land that is reserved to the Indians there is estimated to be 35,000,000,000 board feet of timber, valued at $100,000,000.

Land and cattle, houses and citizenship are not the only Indian possessions. There are vast sums of cash in bank to the credit of Indians. Tribal funds held in trust by the government on interest at 3 to 5 per cent amount to $25,000,000; bank deposits of individual Indians now aggregate more than $35,000,000. Besides, the Indians of their own free will invested $25,000,000 in Liberty bonds.

The Indians themselves are asserting their rights in a way familiar to the whites—by organization. In Washington recently nine tribes formed the National Council of American Indians. Its purpose is "the welfare of the Indians, the protection of their property and the advancement among them of the advantages of civilization."

Association with the white man has made the Indian anxious to have more of the "advantages of civilization." By a curious coincidence, the formation of the National Council of Indians was organized not far from the spot where the powerful Algonquin tribes once held periodic council. There is no doubt of the influence already exerted by this Indian organization.
Congress is being importuned for a thorough investigation of Indian affairs.

Short Sermon

"The wages of sin is death; I give whole sermon of Rev. H. V. Eardley, Wilnot, vicar of Coggeshall, Essex, England, at the parish church.

AMUSEMENTS

This age of restless women that had its birth in the opening years of the present century is the theme of "Time the Comedian," Robert Z. Leonard's Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer production at the Met theater for an engagement of two days.

Lew Cody and Mae Busch are playing the leading roles supported by one of the most brilliant casts of any current picture. For those critics who are decrying the lack of proper picture titles "Time, the Comedian" is an answer.

The title has much to do with the production. Time in an animated sense is pictured as the great comedian of life twisting the destiny of all mortals as a jester might play with puppets. The futility of struggling against time and fate is presented thru the medium of a great panorama of the first quarter of the colorful twentieth century.

Lew Cody as the suave man of the world is at his height. He assays this type of role, that has made his name a byword with the picture going public with polish and ease.

Mae Busch is playing her greatest role in this production and as a result of her finished performance she may be truly hailed as one of the greatest emotional actresses of the screen.

Gertrude Olmsted gives a charming portrayal that marks her for big things. Other members of the cast include Roy Stewart, Paulette Duval, Creighton Hale, Robert Ober, Rae Ethelyn, Nellie Parker Spaulding, Davir Mir, Templar Saxe, Shannon Day, George Periolat, Lillian Langdon, Jacques Abbott, Gertrude Bennett, Frank Elliott and Mildred Vincent.

MRS. F. M. HANLEY

Died at Home of Daughter, Mrs. S. D. Stout—Funeral
Wednesday.

Mrs. Hattie Hanley, of Washington township, died at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Samuel D. Stout, on Pleasant street at 4 o'clock Monday morning. The deceased was the widow of F. M. Hanley, who preceded her in death six years ago. She was born March 8, 1847 and was a daughter of William and Mahala Williamson Nicholson of Walnut township.

The following children survive their mother, Mrs. Mary Welsheimre, of Tarlton; Mrs. Samuel D. Stout, F. M. Hanley, George Hanley, Charles Hanley and Alva Hanley of this city; Samuel Hanley of Columbus, and John Hanley, of Chillicothe. Four children preceded her in death; Mrs. Sarah E. Dunkle, Mrs. Mahala Hall, Mrs. Florence Red and an infant, Eliza Hanley.

Of her immediate family, one sister, Mrs. Mary Hoover, of Ashville is living.

The funeral services will be held Wednesday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock, Daylight Savings time at the Trinity Lutheran church. Rev. G. J. Troutman will officiate. Interment in Reber Hill cemetery.

Voltage of Lightning

The bureau of standards says that only estimates are available concerning the voltage of lightning strokes. These range from a few hundred thousand to several billion volts, depending upon the ideas of the persons making the estimates. No measurements have been made.

LITHOPOLIS TO FETE MEMORIAL FOUNDERS OCT. 2

Elaborate Celebration to be Staged in Village Next Saturday.

The village of Lithopolis in Fairfield county is planning an elaborate welcome and reception for Richard J. Jones and his wife, Mabel Wagnalls Jones next Saturday at the Wagnalls Memorial in Lithopolis. The reception starts at 2 o'clock with a program in the auditorium and an informal reception to follow.

Lithopolis residents and former residents of Fairfield county are expecting to turn out in goodly numbers to welcome the donor of the beautiful Wagnalls memorial.

Mrs. Jones presented the half million dollar library and community house to Lithopolis a year ago in honor of her father and mother, the late Mr. and Mrs. Adam Wagnalls. Adam Wagnalls was the founder of Funk & Wagnalls Co., publishers of the Literary Digest and Standard Dictionary.

All of the Wagnalls collection of original manuscripts and paintings is contained in the library and the community house has served as a gathering place for the people of Lithopolis and vicinity. It is pointed out as a show place to all visitors in Lithopolis.

CORN BORERS HAVE LESSENER THE ACREAGE

Sixty Per Cent in Decrease in Four Years in the Canadian Provinces.

Over 1000 farmers and county agricultural agents of the corn borer infested counties in Ohio toured Essex county, Canada, September 8 to 18, where the pest has reduced corn harvesting to a salvage problem.

Four years ago there was only slight infestation in the county visited by Ohio farmers. The 100,000 acres of corn grown by Essex county farmers was one of the principal sources of Canada's seed corn. T. H. Parks, extension entomologist at the Ohio State university observes, until the corn borer invaded the area. This year there were but 40,000 acres of corn in the entire county and it is estimated that there will be less than 20,000 acres next year.

The entire county is going out of the corn business. Many fields are a complete loss under farming methods similar to those in northwestern Ohio. One field visited by the farmers yielded over 80 bushels an acre last year. Entomologists estimate an average of 30 to 35 borers per stalk in this field.

Early sweet corn is a total loss. Canneries in Essex county refused to pack the early corn. Very little can be sold on the city markets. Substitute crops of wheat, tobacco, tomatoes, oats, grapes, alfalfa, barley and beets are rapidly taking the place of corn.

Land values have been reduced approximately $25 an acre in a community where it is now impossible to grow corn because of the pest.

Where the Pineapple Grows.

In the Hawaiian Islands, popularly known as the Paradise of the Pacific, pineapple plantations spread out for miles in beautiful and orderly array. Pineapple is a luscious tropical fruit that has proved its preference to these islands by developing a flavor, juiciness and sweetness superior to that it will develop in any other location. Here the industry has grown to a tremendous height, and plantations and canneries keep thousands of people busy and happy.

An Exotic Party Salad.

One of the most artistic and unusual of salads is made in the following manner: On a bed of crisp lettuce leaves is placed a slice of Hawaiian pineapple, and around the pineapple, stoned cherries which have been cut in halves are arranged, the circle completely surrounding the outer edge of the fruit. A cream cheese which has been mixed with one tablespoon of heavy cream and colored with a small amount of green vegetable coloring, is formed into small balls and sprinkled with finely chopped pistachio nuts. One of these balls is placed in the center of each slice of pineapple. An appropriate dressing for this salad is made of cream mayonnaise mixed with chopped pistachio nuts.

One-Piece Frocks May Win Approval

Two-Piece Mode in Many Variations—Black Evening Gowns.

On fitful summer days, when woman is looking her loveliest in sheer organdies, cool white crepes and fluttering printed chiffons, the master minds of fashion are deep in the merchandising problems of launching and selling fabrics, furs and styles. They are, indeed, taking thought for tomorrow and, moreover, trying to think your thoughts, lady. Will you again favor the piece frock? They think so. Will you take kindly to moire? They hope so. Will velvets be the rage in dresses in all colors? They pray that will come to pass or they have lost money.

So it goes, dear lady, while you are at the beach in your horizontal-striped beach coat or cretonne coat, or in a plaid taffeta bathing suit with its little bloomers banded in plain color, or dancing in a fluttering chiffon, or playing golf in a Chanel sweater and plaid skirt, remember the eyes of the fashion makers are upon you, trying to fathom you. Yes, trying to fathom your buying power on the new colors and your taste on skirt lengths and desires on serge and kasha.

Hints of autumn modes are in the air, but one cannot safely predict what the mode will be until it is seen how women of the smart world react to the new fashions. Today fashions do not change quickly or decisively. Instead there is a rather gradual evolution of the mode, and often it takes a very practiced eye to distinguish the differences in silhouette and detail that distinguish a model of the new season from one of the last.

It is said that one-piece frocks will to a great extent usurp the place of the long-popular two-piece model. But this is to be taken with a grain of salt, as it were. There are as many variations of the two-piece mode in the collections of new models as there were in last season's, and they are quite as smart and as interesting. However, there are several frocks which exemplify the vogue of one-piece models. In general these rather suggest the two-piece idea, although skirt and top are attached.

The woman who fails to include in her summer wardrobe a dance or dinner frock of sheer black is sure to regret her lack of fashion foresight before the season is over. Nothing quite fakes the place of a black evening gown, and it can be worn many more times than one which attracts attention because of its color.

Everywhere one sees the black evening gowns. At the fashionable summer places, as well as at the roof gardens and restaurants in town, there is unmistakable evidence that its place in fashion is a very definite one and a distinctly important one. While black taffeta appears in an occasional robe de style, the black dresses of midsummer reflect a tendency toward sheer filmy material that seem a bit more in keeping with the season.

Some Hints When Doing French Embroidery Work

In a graceful spray or wreath of French embroidery, whether used on underwear, children's clothes or household things, the eyelets that make the flowers and fill in other parts of the design lend the greatest charm.

If your design calls for round eyelets, as the ones shown here, you will need a stiletto to punch them, as shown at A. An ivory or bone stiletto is usually best, but be sure to choose one with a very sharp point.

Punch the stiletto through the material just far enough to meet the outline of the eyelets that is stamped on the goods. Fasten the thread with a tiny back stitch taken very near the edge of the eyelet, as shown in the enlarged view at B. Work around the eyelet with over-and-over stitches not more than one-sixteenth of an inch deep. Then bring the thread to the wrong side and take another small back stitch as at C.

Eyelets that are not round should be cut with sharp embroidery scissors and embroidered in the same manner outlined for the round ones.

Georgette and Satin

Gray being a neutral color combines very well with other more decided tints. Gray and cherry red are fashionable and pretty, so also are gray and blue (especially powder or navy blue) and gray with the various shades of rose. Printed material in mixed colors is also very smart. Georgette is frequently used in combination with satin. It is particularly good for sleeves, ties, collars, or as an overdress.

Fever-Laden "Skeeters" Bite Army Volunteers

Washington.—Submitting voluntarily to bites of mosquitoes infected with dengue fever, 70 enlisted men of the forces in the Philippines have been mentioned in general orders for displaying "a high sense of duty and soldierly conduct worthy of emulation by others," the War department has announced.

As a result of the study of the infected men, army doctors have obtained valuable information for the treatment and prevention of the disease. The disease has now been reduced to slightly less than 20 in every 1,000, whereas in 1924 80 soldiers in every 1,000 in the Philippines suffered attacks of the fever.

"Back Seat" Driving Ruled Divorce Cause

San Francisco.—"Back seat" automobile driving is a just cause for divorce. The Supreme court of California has ruled so, in a case here.

Claude H. Harman sued for a divorce on the ground that his wife, Jessie, belittled his ability as a driver by constantly telling him from the back seat just how he should negotiate the dangerous curves ahead.

A lower court refused to grant a divorce, and Harman appealed to the Supreme court. The decree was granted.

THE OVERLAND SIX

The day of the slow, cumbersome bulky automobile is gone. A safer, more active, more powerful type of car has come to take its place.

The old school of engineering is rapidly passing out of existence. A new regime of scientific thought has started in America.

The change began 18 months ago.

You find this change in the Overland Six which embodies the most advanced, the most efficient engineering from both sides of the world.

Europe contributed the principle of lighter weight, lower height, with longer, lower, smarter body lines.

America gave us performance, speed, pick-up and increase power.

65,000 were sold the first year, this accomplishment did not just happen, there had to be something to warrant such success.

Built to meet present day performance standards, you can drive it at 45 to 55 miles an hour with safety, ample power to master hills, 5 to 40 miles per hour in 21 seconds, full pressure feed oiling system, positive water pump circulation.

It will out-pull, out-run, out-accelerate and out-perform any car in its weight, price or size.

Safety is its real contribution to motoring, built low to the ground, hugs the road at every turn, banishes slipping and sidesway, which causes so many accidents.

Easy riding, big roomy inside for five people, easy to get in and out, room to stretch. These features you will appreciate when you compare it with other cars of this price.

Beauty, this car was designed by an artist from 18 of the best cars in America and Europe.

SHORT STORIES OF THE BUCKEYE STATE
Jonathan Alder's Birthday.
At the Alder chapel near West Jefferson in Madison county, Sept. 17, there was a celebration that harked back to the Indian and pioneer days of central Ohio—the birth of Jonathan Alder, first white person to take up his residence within what is now Madison county. His name is still preserved in the locality, the chapel being named in his honor and the cabin in which he lived is still to be seen.

Alder was born in New Jersey, Sept. 17, 1773, but when he was quite young his parents moved to Wythe county, Virginia. With his older brother he was stolen by the Indians while looking for strayed stock in the woods. The older brother was killed, but Jonathan was carried away into captivity. These Indians lived mostly in western Ohio, and the white lad was trained to the Indian life. At first he was very unhappy. The diet of the Indians did not agree with him and with troubles arising from this and malaria, from which he suffered, he was far from well most of the time. When he learned the Indian language, life with them was more tolerable and his youth enabled him to become accustomed to the new life.

He remained with the Indians until after Wayne's treaty when, according to its provision such white captives as the Indians had must be given their liberty, and it took Alder some time to decide whether to leave the Indians or stay. He finally gave them a tearful good-bye. But he married a squaw and settled in Madison county as stated above.

The nearest postoffice and trading place was Franklinton and Alder came frequently to the forks of the Scioto for this reason. On one such occasion he met a man from his old Virginia home to whom he told his story. Thus the fact that he was still living was made known in Wythe county, Virginia, and his kinfolk at once began an effort to have him return.

He finally decided to do so, and as the first step, separated from his Indian wife, dividing their property equally with her.

He found his mother and one brother still living. But he returned to his Madison county cabin and there spent the rest of his life, dying Jan. 30, 1849. His grave is in the graveyard of the chapel where the celebration was held.—J. H. Galbraith, in Columbus Dispatch.

INCREASED ENROLLMENT AT OHIO UNIVERSITY

Athens, Sept. 24.—(U.P.)—Nineteen hundred and forty-five students had enrolled at Ohio University today when President Elmer Burritt Bryan officially opened the 123rd college year with the first general convocation of students.

The enrollment figure represents an increase of one hundred and fifty students over last year's enrollment at the same time. This assures a total registration of 2,200 students for the year, school officials said.

Governor Vic Donahey had planned to be a convocation guest but was unable to be present.

DECAPITATION ADDS TO INSECTS' LIVES

At a recent session of the Academy of Sciences Professor Bouvier read a curious paper written by R. P. Cambouet, noted entomologist and for many years a missionary in Madagascar. The purport of the paper was to the effect that the lives of butterflies could be prolonged by cutting their heads off in such a way as to avoid a hemorrhage—an operation which, it would appear, can be performed by an expert.

Cambouet declares that he has tried the experiment successfully with eighty butterflies and that his patients—if that is the word—not only retained "all their faculties and were able to reproduce their species, but the average span of their lives in every case was prolonged by from one to two weeks."

Decapitation as a means of prolonging life! What do the many clients of Monsieur Deibler (the guillotine) think of this?—From Le Petit Parisien. (Translated for the Kansas City Star.)

GENE TUNNEY

Will Be An Active Champion—Will Not Draw Color Line.

By Henry L. Farrell, United Press Staff Correspondent.
Philadelphia, Pa., Sept. 24.—The heavyweight championship of the world is not to be placed in the ice box, according to Gene Tunney, the new champion.

"Every new champion has announced that he was going to be an active champion but few have lived up to their promises," Tunney said. "But I am going to be an active champion."

"Just at this moment, I have no plans for the immediate future and I think the public will agree that I am entitled to a few days rest before I consider any offers."

Tunney denied he ever said he had drawn the color line, and added:

"I will fight any man in the world. I want to conduct myself as a champion and like a marine—meet anyone and meet him fairly."

The new champion, after he had escaped from a mob of admiring fans went to bed in the wee hours this morning and left orders in a secluded hotel that he was not to be disturbed, and the hotel staff carried out his orders.

Police sergeants, picked from the gangster squad, took posts outside his room to keep pests away and police were stationed at the entrance of the hotel.

Jack Kearns, former manager of Dempsey, said he had plans to "get his hands on Dempsey's money" and that the method was up to the judgment of his attorneys.

ORNATE BUILDING RAISED AS TRIBUTE TO STATE'S HISTORY

A history, a tribute, a prophecy, the beautiful Pennsylvania building, standing almost at the center of the Sesqui-Centennial Exposition grounds is a fitting monument to the prowess and progress of the state.

It is built in an open square, facing the entrance, an invitation and a welcome to the visitors who, with Philadelphia, are celebrating the 150th anniversary of the signing of the Declaration of Independence.

The building has been designed to show, almost at a glance, what this century and a half has meant to Pennsylvania. Beautifully executed panels in bas relief about the wall of this open court recount the early history of the state, the signing of the Declaration of Independence, its early struggles against foreign oppressors, its industries, resources, aspirations and arts. In the garden one sees its native trees and flowers blooming; and within the great corridor, in picture, in wonderfully colorful mural decorations and in actual exhibits, one may follow the story of Pennsylvania, from the days of William Penn to the present moment.

The building itself is the exponent of the newest in construction, in architecture and decoration. The outside is finished in a smooth stucco, which lends itself wonderfully to the colorful decorations that surmount the stately colonnades. Practically the entire interior is finished in celotex, a lumber manufactured from sugar cane waste. More than 60,000 feet of this material has been used to produce attractive interiors, and at the same time to give greater strength to the structure, and to keep the building at a comfortable temperature all the year round.

Beautiful mural decorations in almost unbelievable richness of color are the work of George Harding, one of Philadelphia's foremost mural painters. It was at his suggestion that this new building material celotex, was employed in this building, because it is one of the few media which does not require a costly finish upon which to work in murals.

Within the building are the booths and exhibits showing the arts, industries and resources of the state. Among the most interesting is a tablet, raised to the memory of Benjamin Franklin, who is revered as the founder of education through schools and through the press in Pennsylvania.

Another building is the Little Temple of Health, a tiny dome, with a glowing globe catching and reflecting the sunshine to show the healing and health bringing power of sunlight.

Three views of Pennsylvania building at Sesqui-Centennial, showing decorative effects.

Much of interior beauty is made possible by use of celotex.

THE DAIRYMAN'S CALENDAR

As a progressive Dairyman desiring to secure maximum profits from my milk herd, I realize the necessity of adhering to an organized schedule of care, feeding and handling.

JANUARY

AVERAGE MILK PRODUCTION PER COW IN DIFFERENT COUNTRIES

COUNTRY	THOUSANDS POUNDS PER COW
NETHERLANDS	10.0
SWITZERLAND	9.5
UNITED KINGDOM	9.0
GERMANY	8.5
CANADA	8.0
UNITED STATES	7.5
NORWAY	7.0
SWEDEN	6.5
AUSTRALIA	6.0
JAPAN	5.5
ITALY	5.0
CHILE	4.5

Taking inventory, I have decided that pure milk is better than purified milk and that I want not more cows, but more and better milk from each cow.

FEBRUARY

My first step should be the selection of a true type herd sire—a selection which should always command great care and good judgment.

MARCH

Proper selection of dams also will bring its own rewards in more milk, better milk and better animals.

APRIL

The comfort of the animal is important. Thorough cleaning aided by periodical clipping about flanks, udders and underlines during stable months and all over the body when turning out in the spring shall be part of my program. Clean animal, clean milk with low bacteria count.

MAY

The growth in the number of cow testing associations convinces me that membership in one is a good thing. I pledge my association full support and co-operation.

JUNE

Proper feeding is essential. Therefore I shall always provide a carefully balanced ration to my herd, as well as a plentiful supply of pure, clean water.

JULY

Any cow in my herd suspected of being a boarder or otherwise lacking in necessary qualifications shall undergo a fair, but thorough test. What I spend on my herd must come back to me at a profit.

AUGUST

During the hot months, whenever possible, I shall supply my herd with a cool, clean, outside resting place, where they may chew their cuds in peace and ruminate on the blessings of being a provider rather than a parasite.

SEPTEMBER

A dirty condition like that pictured here shall never prevail in my herd. Rather than carry and brush and leech, I shall clip and quickly clean thoroughly by hosing with a damp cloth.

OCTOBER

A clean barn, clean plentiful bedding, water at the station and no milking within an hour of feeding are all part of the program which I shall enforce rigidly.

NOVEMBER

The dairy or creamery that buys my milk must value quality and sanitation as much as I do. They must carry on from the point beyond which I have no control.

DECEMBER

Then when my milk is bottled I shall know I am repaid for my efforts. I shall get more milk and more money for my milk and the gospel of clean and better milk shall spread through the land.

The Happy MAYTAG "Wash-hour"

AN early start—real comfort while the washing is being done—and all through in an hour. That's the happy Maytag "wash-hour" that hundreds of thousands of Maytag users know.

No other washer has these exclusive features that make washing easier—extension legs that makes the Maytag adjustable to your height; a life-lasting cast-aluminum tub that keeps water hot, and that drains and cleans itself in 30 seconds after the washing is done; a handily-placed wringer that instantly adjusts itself to a handkerchief or a blanket and wrings both dry.

AMERICAN TYPE OF MAN APPEARS

Has Distinctive Mental and Physical Characteristics, Says Scientist.

Washington.—An American type of man is developing. In the older American stock this type has already reached a point where it is possible, without much difficulty to distinguish it from the peoples of other countries. This is the conclusion of Dr. Ales Hrdlicka, anthropologist of the Smithsonian Institution of Washington, based upon many years of scientific measurements and study of those whom he designates as "Old Americans," and of the immigrants differing from the original stock.

"The work, as now completed," says Doctor Hrdlicka, "shows that the older stock has approached the formation of a distinct American type. This type is still nearest to that of its main progenitors, the British, but in stature, in physiognomy, and in behavior, it is already more or less different, American. The type is a good one."

He then asks this question: "Have we or have we not scientific grounds for fearing racial deterioration as a result of our former liberal immigration policy?" After a thorough comparison of the data he has collected on the old Americans and the immigrants, he feels justified in answering this question in the negative.

"These studies," he declares, "show no evidence that the mass of immigrants are bringing inferiority of the body, nor, judging from the size of the head, inferiority of brain. Probably all that is necessary, judging from the size of the children of older immigrants and even of many of the immigrants themselves, is opportunity for wholesome development in favorable American environment. Plainly the immigrants on the whole have not brought physical deterioration."

Doctor Hrdlicka is curator in charge of the division of physical anthropology of the National museum, which is under the direction of the Smithsonian Institution. His conclusions are based upon his most recently collected data and studies, and have been prepared at the request of the American Statistical association. They are now being published by the Pollack Foundation for Economic Research.

Here is Doctor Hrdlicka's description of the American type of man, so far as it has been developed:

"It is characterized by tall stature, being the tallest of all the larger groups of white people, by, on the average, a medium pigmentation of the hair, with scarcity of adult blonds and near-absence of blacks; by prevalently mixed eyes, or light ones showing more or less of a brown admixture; by an inclination, especially in youth, to sinewy slenderness; and by other features. The main characteristics of its behavior are, in general, frankness, openness yet shyness, energy and persistence, with, in general, but little sentimentality or affection, and relatively few extremes except perhaps in industrial, financial, and occasionally in religious endeavors.

An Intermediate Type.

"This type, contrary to recent unscientific belief, is not Nordic; it is not even nearer the Nordic than it is to the Alpine. Like the British, it is an intermediate type. The head and skull are on the average mesocephalic; but there is a wide range of variation, with a considerable percentage of brachycephaly. The face varies from strong in those working muscularly to decidedly subdued jaws and cheekbones in those in prevalently mental occupations. Otherwise it is a type close to the median of English and white people in general."

The methods which he employed to collect data and arrive at his conclusions are described by Doctor Hrdlicka as follows:

"In recent years the belief in an American physical and behavioral type has rested on a number of facts. Such a type has been represented in art and in literature, but its scientific demonstration has been wanting. It is a well-known fact, however, that people of the same stock, even though of heterogeneous origin, after centuries of existence as a linguistic and political group, tend to develop similar habits, similar bearing, similar behavior and gradually even similar physical characteristics, especially similar physiognomy, and thus come to constitute a fairly readily recognizable type. How far this development has had time to progress in the United States was until recently a moot question. The general notion was that a race had developed far enough to be without much difficulty distinguishable from the peoples of other countries.

"A critical inquiry into the subject disclosed little of data outside the census statistics, and army and navy measurements (limited to stature and weight), with some records on American children. Under these conditions it was natural that at first the greatest use should be made of the census data.

The Older Stock.

"The census records showed that the older American stock, or that dating from before 1820, consisted principally of English and Welsh people or their descendants, with strong infusions of Scotch-Irish, Germans, Dutch, Irish and French, in the order named. However, English and Welsh with their descendants constituted more than three-fourths, and English, Welsh, Scotch and Irish not far from nine-tenths, of the early United States population. These figures are, of course, only approximate and differ somewhat according to various sources. But the main fact is well established, the population up to 1820 was essentially of British derivation and the American type of that time, it is safe to conclude, must have closely resembled that of Great Britain.

"A century has elapsed since then. The unmixed descendants of the families of 1820 are now at least of the third generation Americans. The old components of the stock, except those—and there are many—who have intermarried with more recent comers, have become considerably unified through admixture among themselves. Moreover, they have now been exposed to from one to three centuries of the American environment, which in many important respects differs from that of the old countries. This must have had some effect upon the behavior-habits and probably even upon the physical type of the old stock, leading it away from British standards toward something more and more American. This would seem to justify the assumption that this country may already have approached a separate behavioristic and physical type as far as the older native stock was concerned, and that it remained for anthropology to determine how far this had proceeded and just what the type was.

An Arduous Task.

"Anthropologists had recognized this problem long before the war and many years in advance of the mischievous pseudo-scientific literature which during the last decade has flooded this country and spread alarmistic anathemas, bias and intolerance. This led me to undertake a detailed physical and partial physiological study of the living representatives of the old Americans. The work was done partly in my laboratory in the United States National museum, partly outside; and the collection and elaboration of the data, begun in 1910, has lasted nearly fourteen years. The whole has proved an arduous undertaking, since, unless one goes to the fabled and therefore scientifically less desirable communities of New England and the Southern Atlantic states, individuals of well-determined, all-American ancestry on both sides of the family for four or even for three generations are much scarcer than is generally believed. Many were found who could qualify on one side; but on the other, one or more of the grandparents were born in Europe, or else their place of birth was unknown. Nevertheless, the total study extended to over 1,500 adults of both sexes, 937 of whom were measured and examined in detail. As regards instruments and circumstances of examination, the conditions of the investigation were ideal."

As to the effects of immigration, Doctor Hrdlicka says:

"These data show that during the last one hundred years this country has received, proportionately to its earlier ethnic components, many more Germans, Irish, Scandinavians, Italians, Slavs, and Jews, and a considerably smaller percentage of Scotch, Welsh, English, Dutch and French. The additions of the new to the older stock, which meanwhile has probably more than quintupled through natural increase, will probably result in a population somewhat more German and Irish, with also a fringe more of Scandinavian and a stronger tinge of Italian, Slav and Jewish blood than formerly. The great bulk of the population remains, however, in origin of descent, British, or at least western European. This does not mean much anthropologically. The peoples here named are not distinct races. They are at most more or less recent types. No such type deserves to be called a 'race' unless this term is used loosely, though presumably the type would develop into a race or strain of distinct, fixed character if it had a chance to persist over thousands of years in isolation."

White Types Differ.

"The various types of white men now existing differ from each other mainly in accordance with their component from previous types. Thus the German type is a composite of northwestern Europeans, Slavs and Alpines, in perhaps not greatly differing proportions. The French type results from the admixture of Alpines, Mediterraneans, southwestern Germans, Celts, and some Normans."

"The present English type is derived from the Neolithic type of man in Britain, the broad-headed central or western European type that reached the islands during the Bronze period. The Mediterranean group, brought in during the Roman domination, the Germanic tribes of what is now west Germany and Holland, and the Norman, French and smaller admixtures. The Slavs are old Europeans, modified according to locality by the Finno-Ugrians, Scandinavians, Germans, Alpines, Italians or Turks. The Scandinavians are a mixture of Slavs, Danes, Saxons, Rumanians, Magyars, Szekels and others. The Italians are descendants of the Latin, Greeks, Etruscans, Gauls, Goths, Slavs, Lombards, Albanians, Phoenicians and Arabs. The Jews carry the blood of every people with whom they have lived. And so with others. Upon analysis every larger European group, even the Nordic or Scandinavian, is found to be a composite of older groups which generally represent all the three main strains of white man, namely, the Nordic, Alpine and Mediterranean. Most, if not all, have also

WHY CHANGE?

The reelection of the four Republican congressmen in Maine by majorities comparing proportionately with the vote in the last presidential election is taken as evidence that the national issues raised by the Democrats had failed to make an impression. At the headquarters of the Democratic national congressional committee issued no official comment, it was admitted that great disappointment was felt over the outcome.

The Democratic appeal for downward revision of the tariff failed to impress Maine voters. The vote Monday was regarded as a favorable off-year vote. Brewster's majority of 20,000 was especially gratifying to the Republicans. Democratic leaders would have been pleased had Brewster's majority not exceeded 10,000. "The normal vote in an off year," said Governor Brewster, "reflects the satisfaction of the citizens of Maine with the Republican administration in state and nation. The policies of President Coolidge meet with cordial endorsement in Maine."

The fight in Maine in many aspects is similar to the fight in Indiana. Democratic speakers are going up and down Indiana insisting on tariff revision, overthrow of policies that have been making prosperous conditions for years. "Why Change," the slogan of the Republicans is being backed by figures and facts that show the nation is enjoying a period of unprecedented prosperity without a cloud on the horizon to shadow the near future. Lowered tariff rates would mean complete revision of plans of manufacturers who approach months of great industrial activity under present tariff conditions.

The danger of an upset in these prosperous conditions is being realized by clear thinking voters and the vote in Maine Monday gives them strength in their determination to continue the Republicans in power.—Indianapolis News.
